What does this program support?

Through its Literary Projects Program, Toronto Arts Council (TAC) provides funding to professional, non-profit, Toronto literary organizations and collectives to pursue one-time or time-limited literary projects involving production, presentation and other activities that contribute to the development of the literary arts in Toronto. The City of Toronto supports this program through a funding allocation approved annually by Toronto City Council.

The maximum grant available in this program is $8,000. TAC will not fund 100% of the project budget. Applicants must indicate a range of revenue sources, which may include donated goods and services. Applicants may receive less than the full amount requested.

Examples of eligible projects include, but are not limited to:

- Writer-in-Residence programs;
- Literary festivals;
- Conferences or symposia for literary professionals and their audiences;
- Series or performance events that incorporate any or all of the following: readings, storytelling, dub poetry, spoken word, etc.

These grants contribute to the costs associated with a literary project, including artistic fees, production and technical costs, marketing and publicity costs, event documentation expenses, administrative costs, etc. Due to potential public health restrictions, social distancing rules and venue closures, works conceived for digital platforms are eligible.

TAC Accessibility grant

Projects involving Deaf artists and artists with disabilities may apply for an additional TAC grant by completing the Accessibility Expenses section of the application and including the requisite information in their budget. A TAC Accessibility grant will provide up to a maximum of $5,000 towards accessibility costs for artists incurred during the project. Accessibility costs include but are not limited to: ASL interpretation, audio description, closed captioning, communications assistants, attendant care (including helpers for Elders), support workers and equipment rentals or other supports required to meet artists’ accessibility needs.

When can the project happen?

Applications submitted to the March deadline should be for projects taking place after June 1 and applications submitted to the August deadline should be for projects taking place after November 1;

All projects must be completed within two years of the date on the Notification Letter.
Who can apply?

If you are a first-time applicant, or if you have any questions about the eligibility of your project, please contact the Literary Program Manager.

- To apply to Literary Projects applicants must be either an incorporated non-profit organization or an unincorporated collective operating on a not-for-profit basis.
- A collective is defined as two or more artists working together under a group name, either on a single project or on an ongoing basis.
- Organizations and collectives must be located in the City of Toronto. A Post Office Box address cannot be used to meet this requirement. Organizations with a regional Toronto office must have operated in the City of Toronto for at least one year prior to the deadline.
- For collectives of two artists, both must be City of Toronto residents. For collectives of more than two artists, the majority of members must be City of Toronto residents.

- TAC recognizes that due to systemic barriers within the broader arts community (e.g. limited mainstream presentation opportunities for artists from equity-seeking communities) that some flexibility may be required in interpreting eligibility criteria to take into account equivalent professional experience and contexts. Potential applicants from equity-seeking communities are encouraged to discuss their eligibility with the Program Manager in advance of submitting an application.
- The payment of artist fees is a requirement in this program.
- The project for which the funding is requested must take place in the City of Toronto.
- Applicants may receive only one grant per calendar year through the Literary program and may not apply to other TAC discipline programs. However, TAC offers other types of granting opportunities through its Strategic Initiatives envelope, and you may be eligible to apply to one of these programs. Please consult TAC’s website for other granting opportunities.

How is my application assessed?

Grants are awarded on a competitive basis by a panel of peers from the literary community. Peer assessors are selected on the basis of their familiarity with, and specialized expertise in, a broad spectrum of literary genres/styles/practices and their direct experience in the Toronto literary community. Grant review panels are composed to ensure fair representation of gender and cultural diversity, as well as emerging, mid-career and established artists. Peer assessors are writers, editors and other literary professional.

The grant review panel assesses projects in each category according to the following criteria:

- The artistic merit of the proposed project and the strength of the applicant’s artistic goals and objectives;
- The contribution of the project to the development of literary arts in Toronto;
- The contribution of the proposed project to the development of the applicant organization/collective and/or the artists involved;
- Public impact of the project, including the quality and effectiveness of the applicant’s outreach marketing and/or audience development strategies;
- Financial viability of the project and the ability of the applicant and participants to carry out the project.

Included in TAC’s Equity Framework is an Equity Priority Policy, which states that if there are multiple well-assessed applications of equal merit in an adjudication round but insufficient funds in the grants budget to support all deserving candidates, applications proposed by applicants that self-identify as belonging to one of Toronto Arts Council’s equity priority groups will be prioritized.

Decisions of the grant review panel are final.

As the peer assessors and the applications change with each deadline, peer assessor evaluation of relative artistic merit will also vary. Unsuccessful applicants may succeed with another grant review panel and are encouraged to re-apply.

How and when do I find out the application results?

TAC will send you an email when the results are available and you will log in to TAC Grants Online to receive the results.

In such cases, TAC may require full or partial repayment of the grant. Changes to project dates must be reported to Theatre Program Manager.
